The Russians have struck at least one soft thing in their Turkish campaign. They have captured the town of Mush.

Gov. Rye has notified Judge Jesse Edgington, of Memphis, that he will call an extra session of the general assembly to try him on impeachment charges unless he resigns at once. Judge Edgington declines to resign and says he will fight the case to the end.

Willis Menifee Nicholasville, of Cornersville, Tenn., who was operated on last week for appendicitis, was found to be an unusual case. Upon removing the appendix, it was found to contain a .22 rifle bullet. It can be only accounted for by his having at some time eaten hog brains, the hog having been shot by a rifle.

The Courier-Journal of Sunday published some verses from George Morrow Mayo, formerly of this city, but now of Washington, City, entitled "Just South of Mason-Dixon Line." The verses have all the swing of Riley and all the dash of Eugene Field, and coming from a young man and a comparatively unknown writer, the work is extremely creditable. We predict for Mr. Mayo a brilliant success in his chosen field.—Bowling Green Messenger.

Prof. Richard L. Garner the scientist, is about to sail once more for the French Congo, to pursue his studies of the life and language of the "bandarlog," the monkey people. When first Prof. Garner declared that it might be possible to learn ape-talk he was the laughing-stock of all who heard him. He is no longer laughed at by scientists. For twenty-five years the professor has been spending much of his time in strong cages in African jungles, listening and watching the ways of the jungle-people. Moving-picture cameras will aid him on this expedition, as well as the photographs he has been using for some time. He hopes to capture two or three young gorillas and chimpanzees for the Bronx zoo in New York, as well as valuable specimens for the Smithsonian institution in Washington.

PADDY NEEDED THE MONEY

Respect for the Dead Evidently Had Little Place in the Makeup of This Irishman.

A good old story has been resurrected of Paddy Maher, who one time was a handy man for an undertaker in a town in the County Kerry.

So healthy had the people become that the undertaking business was very slack, and full time was never certain, and overtime out of the question.

Therefore Paddy resolved to migrate to Liverpool. Arriving there practically penniless, he applied to an undertaker for a job.

"What can you do?" asked the undertaker.

"Anything at all about a funeral," said Paddy.

"Well, I can't give you a regular job," said the man, "but you can go and lay out 'old Cohen, the Jew, in Palestine street, for a start."

Away went our hero, and shortly returned, having done his work and brought measurements, etc.

"There's nothing else for an hour or so," said the boss, "so we'll go and have a drink."

They had one, and then Paddy said: "Now ye'll have one with me."

"I thought you were spent up," said the boss.

"So I was," said Paddy; "but luck ye here."

And he produced a sovereign.

"Where did you get that?" asked the astonished boss.

"I found it in the ould Jew's hand when I laid him out."

"Oh, you shouldn't have touched that," said the boss in alarm. "The Jews always put gold in the hand of their departed. You've committed a great crime."

"What 'ud an ould Jew want with gold when he's dead?" asked Pat.

"To pay his fare across the Jordan," replied the undertaker.

"Oh," said Pat, with a broad grin, "let the ould chap swim. What are ye drinkin'?"—London Tit-Bits.

Have You Tried Acorn Bread?

Although the Germans are making war bread out of all kinds of materials, they will have to go a long way before they invent an entirely new kind of bread. Beans, peas, maize and other substances have been mixed with wheat or rye in the past.

Mashed potatoes, mixed with wheat or maize flour, were used by poor people on the continent years before the war broke out. Rice flour makes fine yellow bread, while the chestnut bread that forms the chief food of the Corsican mountaineers is very digestible, agreeable to taste, and keeps fresh over a fortnight.

Bread has been made from acorns, especially by the peasants of France. Mosses, dried and powdered, are still used for bread by Norwegians, and other substances that have been used, most of them yielding little nutrition without the addition of cereal flour, include the roots of colchicum, iris, man dragora and hellebore.

Activities of Women.

Dr. Hazel Edison has been made a deputy coroner at Tolt, Wash.

Pennsylvania's only woman deputy sheriff, Miss Frances W. Crans of Ansonia, has resigned her position to become a bride.

The Cambridge Law School for Women will be as nearly a replica of the Harvard Law school as it is possible to make it.

Mrs. Louise K. Thiers of Milwaukee, Wis., who recently celebrated her one hundred and first birthday, is a real daughter of the American Revolution, her father having been on the military staff of George Washington.

In Persia a girl who is learning to weave Persian rugs serves her apprenticeship by tying 30,000 knots a year, for which she is paid 91 cents.

A new coat-of-arms for the state of Massachusetts has been completed by Mrs. Amelia Fowler, said to be the most expert needlewoman in the United States.

Memorial to George Eliot.

There is soon to be opened at Nuneaton, her birthplace, a memorial to George Eliot, says the London Chronicle. The memorial, which is the gift of a private individual, has taken the form of a museum and art gallery, the spot chosen for it being a very appropriate one in the midst of scenes made famous in the novelist's book, "Scenes From Clerical Life." To the left of the building is Milby church of "Janet's Repentance," and but a short step away stands the old house in Orchard street where lived the lawyer Dempster and his wife.

Two minutes' walk in the opposite direction brings one to the school where the writer received her first initiation into the wonders and the beauties of our language.

This is the first public memorial to be erected to the novelist's memory, the other one in existence being that erected at Arbury, where George Eliot was born.

The Answer.

The Artist—Do you know the difference between working and playing?

The Musician—Yes; the man who gets music out of a violin is playing; the fellow that gets noise out of a drum is working.

His Reason.

"There's old Dunn. I don't care to meet him. Let's turn this way. Last fall I requested a loan of $20."

"Well, he ought to have obliged you;—"

Kansas Woman Helpless.

Lawrence, Kas.—Mr. J. F. Stone, of this city, says, "My wife suffered for ten years from womanly troubles, during two years of which she was totally helpless. She was examined by many physicians, some of whom gave her up to die. Finally she began to take Cardui, and since then has greatly improved in health. The tonic, strengtheners, and restorative effects of Cardui, the woman's tonic, on the womanly constitution, are the most valuable qualities of this popular medicine. Cardui acts specifically on the womanly constitution. Half a century of success proves that Cardui will do all that is claimed for it. Try it for your trouble.—Advertisement."

MUCH IN A NAME, SOMETIMES

Gouverneur Morris, the Novelist, Slept in Suites When Other Correspondents Didn't.

Private information from the battlefields of Europe indicates that Gouverneur Morris, the novelist, has had a clench over the other correspondents.

In many of the hotels the correspondents were herded in one room at night, while Morris had a suite all to himself. Then again Morris was on friendly if not intimate terms with high officials and military commanders, while the other boys had to scrape around as best they could.

It was a mystery to the other scribes to understand how it was that Morris caught on so easily, got the best of everything and went home with royalty, until one day a petty officer approached one of the newspaper men and said:

"Will you kindly tell me what state it is that Mr. Morris is governor of?"

The above calls to mind the fact that years ago George William Curtis, editor of the Easy Chair in Harper's Magazine, was in Oberammergau to witness the "Passion Play." Unfortunately he was late in arriving at the open air theater and all the seats except those reserved for high officials were gone. The editor was in despair until he had a bright idea.

Approaching one of the high officials he said:

"Has the duke of Hesse Castle or the duke of Cambridge arrived yet?"

"I think not," the official replied.

"Too bad," the editor remarked, "but when they arrive would you mind telling them that Mr. —, one of the electors of New York, is waiting for them?"

The official bowed and said: "Certainly, sir, but would you not prefer to wait for them inside?"

Mr. Curtis agreed that this arrangement was much to be preferred to the one of standing outside, so he permitted the official to escort him down front and seat him near a bunch of princes, dukes and other assorted specimens of royalty.

"It's a great thing to be an elector of New York," the editor said in telling the story.—From the Editor and Publisher.

Explorer Rescued.

Even today inland New Guinea is one of the world's dark spots. The country is a nightmare of gigantic precipices, huge ravines, great swamps and soaking forests. In 1901 the Danish explorer Petersen, with three companions, dived deep into the heart of this unknown country. They were captured by a tribe of savages, who killed their carriers and made them prisoners. For long they were believed to be dead. Then, to every one's amazement, a letter in Petersen's writing was brought by a native to the coast. It told of his miserable plight, and an expedition was at once sent inland to bring him home.

Got the Wrong Tube.

After a busy day of golfing and an evening of automobiling, Jane's skin was irritated from the combined effects of sun and wind, so she liberally "cold-creamed" her face and hands and settled herself for a good night's rest.

In a few minutes her face began to feel stiff and drawn. "At last," she thought, "the expected has happened. I have paralysis." Her nervousness increased when her fingers became unmanageable and her skin began to crack and snap. She hastily turned on the light and found her face alarmingly wax and shiny. What could be the cause? Finally she rushed to the tube of cold cream. It was labeled "Library Paste."—Youth's Companion.
